Evening Chat

Out there in the country,
On that little farm of mine,
We used to think that cookies,
And ginger bread wuz fine,
And a lump o' ole brown sugar,
Wuz good and nice and sweet,
And we got the stuff so seldom,
We considered it a treat.
Since we've moved to the city,
We've changed our ideas,
And a lump o' ole brown sugar,
And a ginger bread wuz fine,
And a lump o' ole brown sugar,
Wuz good and nice and sweet,
And we got the stuff so seldom,
We considered it a treat.

"For partial immediate relief, every individual and community should consider earnestly the matter of food conservation and the limitation of waste. As a nation we seem to have a disinclination to economize. In many homes there is a strong feeling that it is 'only decent' to provide more food than will be eaten and that it is degrading to ration closely. The experts of the Department of Agriculture report to me that the dietary studies made my them point to an annual food waste of about $700,000,000. Of course, the waste in families of very limited means is slight, but in the families of moderate and ample means the waste is considerable. Even if the estimate were reduced by half, the waste would still be enormous.

"The food waste in the household, the experts assert, results in large measure from bad preparation and bad cooking, from improper care and handling, and, in well-to-do families, from serving an undue number of courses and an overabundant supply of food. To save and utilize the food not consumed. As an instance of improper handling, it is discovered that in the preparation of potatoes 20 per cent. of the edible portion in many cases is discarded."—Secretary of Agriculture, March 3, 1917.

Galleo's Telescope.
The telescopes constructed by Galleo consisted of one convex object glass and one concave eyeglass, which were placed at the extremities of a metal tube, the first of these magnifying the height and breadth of objects three times. Later on he produced a telescope which magnified eight times, and about five years further along produced a telescope with the power of magnifying objects about thirty times larger than they appear to the unaided eye.

History of Oils.
For twenty centuries the oil lamp, with very little variation in general design, served the purpose of lighting interiors, from the hovel of the peasant to the palace of the king, from the cave-hidden chapel of the early Christians to the stately religious temples of medieval and modern days. Up to the middle of the nineteenth century only oils of a vegetable and animal origin were employed. Then in 1850 James Young of Scotland introduced the mineral oils, kerosene and paraffin.

The American Marriage.
It has long been axiomatic that the American wife felicitates herself on her superiority to her husband, though she refrains from telling him so. On the other hand, the American business man has ever been accused of sacrificing his wife on the altar of his own absorption in money-making, and of saving the wounds due to his neglect with the ointment of unlimited credit. —Robert Grant in Scribner's.

The Greenwood Tree.
The greenwood tree of English song and story is now said to have been the holly, which retains its bright dress the year round and is supposed to have stood Robin Hood and other outlaw in good stead, when, clad in Lincoln green, they sought its shelter, depending on the law of protective coloration to escape the laws of Nottingham town and other troublesomely inquisitive municipalities.

Domestic Sacrifice.
If husband becomes angry on Monday and tells wife she can't buy a certain thing, the poor woman knows she must do without it until Tuesday. —Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

An Easter Dinner.

By BIDDY BYE

Easter colors are the ecclesiastical colors, purple and white. There is no shade of purple, however, which suggests an appetizing food. Quite the contrary. The Easter hostess will therefore be unable to carry out the proper color scheme in her menu although she can manage it very easily in her table decorations.

If she is content to omit the purple note altogether, she can obtain a peculiarly unique and charming effect by using stiff calla lilies in a delicately modeled Japanese bowl. The bowl should consist of typical spring foods, if possible.

MUSHROOM SOUP.—For each person, allow 1 cupful of clear soup and 2 tablespoonfuls of fresh mushrooms cut into small pieces and simmer in the soup stock for 30 minutes.

Pimiento Potatoes.—Cut the potatoes into cubes and fry them in deep fat. Drain well. Melt 1 tablespoonful of butter in a frying pan and in it simmer one slice of onion for 3 minutes. Remove the onion and add three canned pimientos cut in strips. Heat thoroughly, add the potato cubes, stir until very hot and serve garnished with chopped parsley.

EASTER SALAD.—Place in a saucepan 2 1/2 cups of canned tomatoes, 2 slices of onion, 2 stalks of celery, 1/4 of a diced green pepper and 1/4 a teaspoonful of salt. Cook over a moderate heat for 15 minutes; then add 1/2 a package of gelatine, softened in 1/2 a cup of cold water, and remove from the fire as soon as the gelatine is dissolved. Strain into a shallow dish that has been rinsed with cold water and set in a cold place to chill and harden. When ready to make the salad unmold on a sheet of white paper, cut into cubes with a knife dipped in hot water and arrange on a bed of crisp lettuce leaves. Place between the cubes of jelly spoons of diced cooked vegetables blended with mayonnaise dressing, and garnish with strips of pickled beets and quarters of hard cooked egg.

MARSHMALLOW PUDDING.—Soak 3/4 of a tablespoonful of instant gelatin in 1 tablespoonful of cold water and then dissolve it in two tablespoonfuls of boiling water. Whip 1 cupful of chilled double cream until solid, add 2 tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, 1/2 teaspoonful of vanilla extract and the cooled gelatin. Beat again and the mixture begins to stiffen fold in 1/2 pound of fresh marshmallows, cut into shreds, 1/2 cupful of chopped walnuts and 1/4 of a cupful of chopped and drained maraschino cherries. Pour in to mold that has been rinsed with cold water and set aside to chill and harden.

Hostesses who must cook the dinner which they serve will find the following menu easy to serve because most of the dishes can be prepared several hours before the guests arrive:

Grecian Dolls.

As one might expect, the little Greek girls had beautiful dolls. They were made of clay and wax and decorated with bright colors. They had beautiful garments which could be put on and taken off at will, and some of them were made to represent the gods and heroes so much revered by the people. They were not stiff creatures, but had movable limbs.

Songs Inspire Shower of Crockery.
Street singing is an especially Neapolitan institution, and when for the first time one hears beneath his windows the more often than not offkey versions of the snappy, lilting, incessantly infectious Neapolitan songs he is enchanted and throws pennies freely. After a week or so of it as a steady diet, day and night, he inclines much more to heavy crockery.—National Geographic Magazine.

Adam Exonerated.

The minister was preaching on little things, how great events from trifling causes spring, and an obiter dictum was: "Did you ever reflect that a single man was the father of the human race?" Several members of the congregation subsequently assured each other that they regarded Adam as married.—Manchester Guardian.

And He Never Smiled.

"Yes, sir, I think you'll find this'll bring your 'air up all right, sir. When we hintrodoosed this 'ere stuff, sir, we tried it on a bald gent with a 'ead like a begg, and would you believe it, sir, 'e had to 'ave 'is 'air cut three times on his way 'ome. So we reduced the strength."—London Tit-Bits.

"Cancer" in Plants.

Extensive researches by plant pathologists of the agricultural department on the development of crown galls upon plants show that these galls, which are caused by a bacillus, have many points of resemblance to human cancer.
